Dear Sheila Bair;

Congratulations on your new post. Perhaps you are under the impression that Wal-Mart's is an honest company only looking to expand their services to the people. It has been my experience that Wal-Mart Corp lies to get what they want. They have their own agenda and it is not the best for you or me. They are much too large and take advantage of it every where they can.

Please take careful consideration to any moves to allow these folks from any more control in America. We will regret it if you do.

Sincerely,

Barbara Manning
